MAY-ITEMS.

Among fashionable damsels the man who ranks well is a rank swell.

When a corner loafer dies in Tennessee the papers say: "Another old landmark gone."

A Rockland woman calls her husband Mucilage, because he's such a stick.

When the flower of the family is out on an evening racket it's a bad case of the night-blooming serious.

Simple pity ain't much better to a person than an insult; but to pity him with a five dollar bill is bizness.

He didn't finish the poem; he couldn't, but he hauled lots of nails out of the stairs with his teeth as he went down head foremost.

A competent authority says you must lie with your feet to the equator. Eli Perkins and G. Alfred Townsend will please take notice of this.

"Grace Greenwood" was standing in a Washington horse car, when a sudden start of the car threw her over into a gentleman's lap, when she said, "I beg your pardon, sir; but you see I am a Lap-lander."

"Oh, Mr. Grubbles!" exclaimed a young mother, "shouldn't you like to have a family of rosy boys about your knee?" "No, ma'am," said the disagreeable old bachelor, "I'd rather have a lot of yellow boys in my pocket."

Josh Billings says "There is one thing about a hen that looks like wisdom; they don't knock much until after they have laid their egg. Sun phobs are alway bragging and a kackling what they are going to do beforehand."

Alfred Wilkins, of Toledo, has invented a more speedy and economical method of elevating grain in bulk. It is not necessary to invent a more speedy method of elevating grain in a fluid state. Some men can elevate ten drinks before breakfast, and never growl at the expense.

"It is a standing rule of our church," said one clergyman to another, "for the sexton to wake up any man he may see asleep." "I think," returned the other, "that it would be much better for the sexton when a man goes to sleep under your preaching, to wake you up!"

An English physician says the idea that early rising promotes health and longevity is all foolishness. We discovered this fact some years ago. We got up before daybreak to run to a fire, when we went down the stairs in too much suddenness, and if we didn't knock ten years off our longevity, we at least felt very unhealthy for about two weeks.

An American Girl's Explanation

I heard of a rather amusing reply given, the other evening at a ball, by an American girl in London society, who had strayed away from the ball-room. Her mother subsequently discovered her in a remote nook with a gentleman, who had his arm around her waist, while she rested the tips of her pretty little fingers on his manly shoulders. "Daughter, what's all this?" exclaimed the irate mamma. Saucy cheeks looked up calmly, and replied "Mamma, allow me to introduce Captain to you. I had promised him a dance, but I was so tired that I couldn't keep my word, and I'm just giving him a sitting still waltz instead." —Olive Logan's London Letter.

S. K. HAMMER, J. R. MORRIS.
HAMMER & MOSSER PUBLISHERS,
DECATUR, ILLINOIS.

MONDAY EVENING MAY 5, 1879.

The Tolon Herald calls Hon. B. K. Durfee, of this city, "the whitest man in the House," and for proof of the statement prints that gentleman's speech on the militia bill, in which he took occasion to sit down on Mr. Harts, the gentleman from Logan.

SPEAKER RANDALL is to go to California after the adjournment of Congress, to take part in the campaign in that state, and to help Dennis Kearney and his hoodlums in their warfare against the heathen Chinese. As a first class demagogue Sam Randall has few equals and no superiors.

Gen. Ben Harrison of Indiana, is in Washington, and gives a very rose-colored view of political affairs in that State. He says the Democrats in Indiana are sadly demoralized, and the Republicans in good trim; that the latter are for Grant first, and after him for any straight-forward and pronounced Republican, and that there is but little doubt that Indiana will be found on the roll of Republican States in 1880.

LET Virginia look to her laurels: Illinois has stopped to the front with a whole armful of presidential timber. There's our suave and oleaginous senator—he of soothing syrup fame—and that ex-senator, who will go down in history as the liveliest foot-shaker at the quadroon ball, and the ex-governor who volunteered to prosecute the friends that tried to murder Elihu Pinkston, and the Springfield general whose age nobody knows, but whose saucer has been held out in every presidential shower that has fallen during two generations at least, together with a regiment of dark horses; and, to cap all, a quiet little gentleman from Galena, of whom the late lamented editor of the New York Tribune was accustomed to say, "he never has been beaten and never will be"—or words to that effect.

It is understood in Washington that President Hayes wrote the veto message himself, and that it was not submitted to the cabinet until after it was sent to the House of Representatives. A Washington dispatch on this subject says:

Although the veto was never discussed or referred to in any cabinet meeting, the President consulted each member of the cabinet singly as to his views on the subject. Without giving his own views regarding the matter, the President asked his secretaries what each thought should be done. Then after he had obtained the views of a cabinet officer, the President would remark that he had carefully considered the matter in all its details, and had about decided on what his message should be. Strange to say, all the members of the cabinet coincided in their views with the President. This is a fact which may be asserted upon the highest authority, and it puts to flight the idle rumors that there was a difference of opinion in the cabinet on the expediency of the veto. The President was in doubt as to whether he should return the army bill with his veto at once, or allow a few days to elapse. It was upon this point that he especially consulted the members of the cabinet. They, to a man, advised prompt action, upon the theory that the extra session of congress was called for the purpose of considering the army and legislative appropriation bills, and that as on account of obnoxious "riders" to each, they were both to be vetoed, it was advisable to let the house know at the earliest moment the attitude of the Executive, and to allow the democrats the fullest and quickest time possible to reconsider their policy and make the necessary appropriations for the support of the government.

One of the best speeches delivered in Congress on the Southern question was that by Mr. J. C. Burrows, of Michigan. The following reference to the flight of the negroes from their homes to escape the misery to which they have been reduced was a most pointed rebuke to the men who profess to be fighting for "free government":

This very hour, while you are professing such jealous care for the rights of American citizens, a whole race is fleeing from your presence as they would fly from a pestilence. Not to escape Federal bayonets but Southern bludgeons; not to escape Federal batons, but Southern bowie-knives; not to escape Federal interference, but Southern intimidation; not to escape Federal force, but Southern fraud; not to escape election laws, but enforced exile; not to escape from Federal Marshals, but from Southern murderers; not from honest registration, but from masked raiders; not from Supervisors of election laws, but from Southern shotguns—in a word, fleeing from a people and country where their every right is cloven down and their every wrong unreddressed. When I hear gentlemen on the other side of the Chamber denounce these outrages upon a free ballot and free men in many portions of the Southern states, it will be time for me to believe that they are really sincere and solicitous for the protection of the citizen and the purity of the ballot-box.

THE CLINTON MYSTERY.

The Indefatigable and Persevering Spiritualist Still Digging for Treasure.

Bloomington Pantograph.

Four or five months ago an eccentric individual named Moore, from Havana, came to Salt Creek in the vicinity of Clinton, and began digging along the banks of the creek. He frequently changed his place of operations, but finally settled down at a place near the point where the Illinois Central railroad crosses Salt Creek. Here he seemed to be satisfied, and here he works day after day toiling alone.

The man is evidently a monomaniac on the subject of spiritualism, though perfectly rational on all other subjects. A strange delusion has taken possession of his mind. The story he tells to the idlers who gather about his camp on Sunday is, that the spirit of an Indian chief who passed into the happy hunting grounds many moons ago, whispered in his ear that $200,000 in English coin and $100,000 in Spanish gold had been brought from the mouth of the Ohio river one hundred years ago, and buried somewhere on Salt Creek by the Indians, who then inhabited these parts.

Never had this precious information been imparted to the ear of a white man. Sacredly held in reserve for the advent of Moore upon the earth, he is the chosen medium of the Great Father of Spirits, through which this precious treasure shall be brought forth to the world. Moore's guardian angel has instructed him to build a temple as a thank-offering and memorial on the spot where the bonanza is found, and this injunction he will religiously observe. At times he is assisted by a seeress, who comes up from Havana. The burden of his conversation and his whole life is the supernatural mission entrusted to his hands, and he is completely engrossed by the delusion that has enshrouded his brain.

General Convention Y. M. C. A.

All the associations in the United States and Canada are represented in a body which meets in Baltimore, Md., May 21 to 26, and from indications it will be an event of no ordinary interest and benefit. Large numbers of men distinguished in this work, including D. L. Moody, will be there from all parts of the country. Mr. Chas. Ferman of Geneva, Switzerland, representing the associations of the whole world, will be present. An extremely low rate of $21 for a round-trip ticket from St. Louis has been made good for twenty days. These tickets can be had by all who wish to attend the convention, whether delegates or not, upon application to W. Hargrave White, state secretary of the Mo. Y. M. C. A., at the rooms, 704 Olive street.

The Grasshopper Pest.

Nevada newspapers announce that vast numbers of grasshopper eggs are incubating in the Sierra valley. A spadeful is represented to have contained hundreds of thousands of eggs deposited in clusters. The farmers have not turned a furrow this spring, knowing that with these pests in the soil their work would be fruitless of result. Grain crops will only foster the scourge, while to let the ground remain idle may starve the insects into emigrating. Fears are expressed that they may sweep down upon the fertile valleys of California, but whether they can cross mountains of such altitude as the Sierras is doubtful.

"Fol-de-Rol."

Oklahoma (Miss.) Southern States (Dem.) Who was it that said the Yankee yellow fever fund had reunited our republic in bonds of brotherly love; that there would be no more hard passages-at-arms between the north and the south; that the lion had laid down with the lamb; and all that kind of fol-de-rol?

A Northern Democrat.

Hartford Courant (Rep.) Occasionally a northern democrat succeeds in getting an office from the present congress. For instance, John Chamberlain, the notorious blackleg, is appointed keeper of the house restaurant.

Gen. Toombs, the Georgia fire-eater, is in favor of carrying pistols. In an interview with the representative of the Atlanta Constitution he said: "Everybody is expected to lay aside his pistol, and the first thing you know some d—n coward who regards neither law nor honor will shoot you in the back. It is all wrong, sir! A man ought to carry arms when he thinks his life is in danger. It is not wrong for him to do so, and, so far as I am concerned, I will do it whenever I want to defend myself."

This is a frank confession that every man's life is in danger in the South, though it has the unrestricted right of self-government, and that the law is powerless for protection. If white men are not safe without carrying pistols, it is any wonder that the negro, whose life is of no consequence whatever under any circumstances, manifests a desire to oxidize to Kansas?

"THE boneless democracy" is the name it goes by in Washington since the back down.

RUSSIA AND THE Nihilists.

Russia seems to be a slumbering volcano, which the Emperor is trying to fasten down with clamps. Whether he will succeed or not is a problem open to great doubt. It is certain that so far he has met with very indifferent success. The Nihilists, as they are called, seem to be ubiquitous. Their operations are carried on so boldly and successfully as to demonstrate that even those on whom the Emperor is relying belong to the secret organization. This view is prevalent in St. Petersburg, and a letter from that city states that the heads of the secret police are, it is said, about to resign, having discovered that three-fourths of their men are in league with the Nihilists. The writer says, however, that Notwithstanding all this, the strength of the Nihilists must not be exaggerated. They are not really numerous, but they are very active, procure recruits, of whom they make fanatics, spread terror by their audacity, and are assisted, if not by the complicity, at least by the apathy of the middle classes. In this, indeed, lies their chief strength. While they are aiming at the so-called regeneration of the empire by the most abominable means, the middle classes, the savants, functionaries, merchants, and many officers are at heart profoundly hostile to the autocratic system. All these people are liberal, wish for a more or less comprehensive constitution, and claim at least for the nation the right and means of control. This section of the people, which, especially in the towns, is the most numerous, influential, and enlightened, feel a kind of humiliation of seeing countries like Montenegro and Bulgaria with Legislatures and constitutions of some kind, while Russia, the great nation, is the only European state without them. Hence a latent irritation which induces perfect unconcern for the Nihilist enterprises. In three cases out of four they do nothing when a disgraceful outrage is committed, and if reproached with their apathy they reply, "It does not concern us." The Emperor will not lean upon the nation, and the enemies of society profit by our indifference to carry on war of extermination against every obstacle to their schemes. Meanwhile the court clique, who put their hands in the Emperor's cash box—that is to say into the people's treasury—those who live on the imperial grandeur, who are above laws, and dispose of Russia as they choose, urge the Emperor to make no concession, alleging that sovereigns, by giving way to Liberalism and the inevitable excesses in its train, have everywhere paved the way for their fall or the ruin of their dynasty and their country. The Emperor listens to them rather than give up his autocratic character. All the evil lies here. Vainly has it been sought to distract our attention by wars and diplomatic skirmishes. As long as our dignity is not considered, as long as we are strangers to the management of our own affairs and driven like a flock of sheep, the evil will increase till one of remaining apathetic, we, too, shall take part in the conflict, and it will not be on the side of autocratic power that we shall muster. Be assured, however, that whenever the Emperor gives us a mere semblance of liberty, the weakness of Nihilism will be seen, and it is now only a small fraction of the nation. The Emperor can do what he will. With a stroke of the pen he can give us the dignity to which we aspire and reduce the sect to nothingness, but there is no sign of his doing so.

Mr. Vorhees vs. The Democracy.

Indiana Journal.

Mr. Vorhees said, in his speech in the senate a few days since: "I am opposed to everything in the shape or name of supervisor. If I had my way I would not leave them standing as mere scare-crows, they would vanish from the polls." Now it may not be known at Washington, but it is a fact nevertheless, that Senator Vorhees and his party have made the request to the court for the appointment of all the supervisors that have been appointed in Indiana. The last time supervisors were appointed it was on the written request of Senator McDonald and other democrats, and it is a matter of no little surprise in this state that these gentlemen should become so violently opposed to supervisors at the dictation of southern democrats.

The Cincinnati Enquirer has discovered and interviewed an agent of Tilden traveling in the West. This gentleman believes that Tilden will have more strength in the Democratic convention of 1880 than he had in the convention of 1876. There will be Tilden as well as Thurman delegates from Ohio, and Tilden as well as Hendricks delegates from Indiana. Tilden will receive the nomination for President, and Henry B. Payne, of Cleveland, Ohio, the nomination for Vice President. This, according to Tilden's agent, is the Tilden programme. General Palmer will be held in reserve as alternate.

CHICAGO, May 3.—The roads leading west from here were to-day notified that not only would freight be diverted from Chicago by the appointment in New York, but the St. Louis trunk lines will be allowed to pro rate on through business to Missouri river points, until the Chicago roads recede from their western low rates. Much bad feeling has been engendered and it is said that the roads here will unite with the lake and canal transportation companies to lower rates and secure a share of the business.

ANOTHER AMERICAN VICTORY IN ENGLAND.

News From Here and There.

Special cablegram to the REPUBLICAN

LONDON, May 5.—The sculling match at New-Castle-on-Tyne, to-day, between Edward Hanlan, of Toronto, Canada, and John Hawden, of Delaval, England, resulted in a victory for Hanlan. The contest was for a purse of £200.

LONDON, May 4.—A dispatch from Calcutta says nearly a million pilgrims, who assembled at the Hurdwar Fair cave carried the cholera in various directions. Outbreaks of the disease are reported from Delphi, Wrenzitz, Rawalpindi and elsewhere. Some cases have occurred among the European troops. It is asserted that of $0,000 persons who went to the fair from Cumaton, one-quarter of the m are missing. This mortality has been caused by the police forcing them to travel the desert tracks. It is probable the story is much exaggerated.

Five thousand famine stricken refugees from Kuttawar have entered Bombay.

BOSTON, May 3.—Freeman, the Adventist of Pocasset, who murdered his 10-year-old child last Thursday, was arraigned at Barnstable to-day, with his wife, who is held as accessory. Both insist that God will fully justify their action and relieve them from all human penalties.

A number of his Adventist neighbors sustain Freeman in his course. Many of them are well-to-do farmers. Some of those present at the meeting at Freeman's house on the day of the murder will be arrested on the charge of being accessory to the deed.

NEW YORK, May 4.—Among the actors and minstrel singers to-day's topic of conversation was the reported secession of James Sutherland, better known as "Senator Bob Hart," the minstrel, from the ranks of the American Temperance Union. One of the members of the San Francisco Minstrels said: "These people made a convert of Bob and used his reputation to advertise themselves. I don't think he has been treated fairly financially, and I don't blame him for leaving the company." Mr. Wm. Mason Evans, president of the American Union, was asked whether Senator Bob Hart had left the fold, and for what reason. Mr. Evans said: "I believe that Mr. Sutherland has left us, and I regret it from my heart. I have received a letter from him in which he said that he desired to sever all business connection with myself and the American Temperance Union. I do not believe he has abandoned the temperance cause, and I wish him well." It is understood that Senator Bob Hart would on next Sunday start a series of independent temperance meetings, and organize a new society.

BOSTON, May 4.—The funeral of Edith Freeman, the victim of a father's fanaticism, took place in the Methodist church, at Pocasset, this afternoon. The body was brought to the church in a simple casket by Alden P. Davis, a sympathizer with Freeman in his deed, and one of the latter's chief abettors, who after depositing the casket and its contents near the altar, announced his intention of addressing the audience, but this he was prevented from doing by threats of arrest. Adventists who in their blind superstition fully believe that the dead child will be resurrected, or else its body translated to heaven, are deeply mortified that their prophecies should result in so apparent a non-fulfillment.

After the funeral service in the church the body was removed to the village cemetery, hard by, and deposited in the grave. Davis, an Adventist fanatic, mounted a tombstone and began an address to the crowd assembled, attempting to prove that Freeman was justified by God in killing his child, but was prevented by the crowd, who compelled him to desist. The casket was then covered with earth. The Adventists, having threatened to remove the body and throw it into the water near by, that the climax to its sacrifice may not be interfered, the Sheriff's officers have guarded the grave, and will remain on watch until morning.

CINCINNATI, May 3.—For some days the crowd in waiting at the Sub-Treasury for the United States $10 refunding certificates has been immense. The approaches to the office have been filled by these applicants, and the line of men and boys, especially the latter, has extended some distance in the street. Notwithstanding the order refusing banks the privilege of purchasing them, they have obtained a large amount by proxies. One man standing in the line acknowledged that he had fifteen boys from the factories whom he had employed to procure certificates. He had by this means furnished one bank with several thousand dollars' worth. Another had sold the banks a large amount at 1 per cent. premium. The amount given out yesterday was over $50,000. The aggregate sales amount to $370,000.

SALT LAKE, Utah, May 3.—In the Miles polygamy case to day, Judge Emerson sentenced Daniel H. Wells, First Counselor to the Twelve Apostles of the Mormon Church, to a fine of $400 and two days' imprisonment for contempt in refusing to answer questions relative to polygamous marriages in the Endowment House said to have been performed by him, and to the costumes worn. The evidence taken has been similar to that taken before the Commissioner at the examination in October last, and points to a conviction. The arguments in the case will be made Monday.

R. C. CROCKER, the hardware dealer, who is closing out his stock of goods to quit business, is giving our people big bargains. Tinware, hardware, cutlery, mechanics' tools—in fact everything usually kept in a first-class establishment—are going off rapidly at auction prices.

THE Highest market price will be paid for second-hand furniture, stoves, etc. New goods sold at bottom prices. Old Hever House. Ed. Houston, agent. March 9-d&w1f

At our regular meeting of the Decatur Lodge of Good Templars to-night the newly-elected officers will be installed.—It is earnestly desired that there be a full attendance of the membership, as other business of unusual importance will be acted upon.

WHO will come next? Ed. McGee called to-day, just from Kentucky and Tennessee, having "exhausted" from there on account of the poverty of the country.—He requests us to inform the people of Decatur that he is endeavoring to live an honest life, and prays them not to lead him into temptation by leaving their cellar doors unlocked, or otherwise recklessly exposing their valuable effects to the effects of the night air. He trusts that this hint will be sufficient.

A PLEASANT AFFAIR.

Conductor Campbell's Sunday Excursion to Peoria a Grand Success.

Decatur and Peoria joined hands yesterday, and our people are home again well pleased with the day's recreation. It was the occasion of Conductor J. S. Campbell's dollar excursion over the Peoria, Lincoln and Decatur railway. About six coaches were filled at this point, at 8 a.m., by many of our most respectable and order-loving citizens. At Mt. Pulaski, Lincoln and other points along the route three other cars were filled, and the train pulled into Peoria shortly after 11 o'clock with nine full coaches.

The afternoon was passed by the party in sailing on the lake, boat riding, visits to Central Park and the cemetery, and viewing objects of interest generally.

Returning the train arrived here at 9:40 p.m. In all respects this was one of the most enjoyable Sunday excursions that has occurred on any road running out of this city, and nothing whatever happened to mar or detract from the pleasure of the excursionists. It was just like any regular passenger train, and everybody had a good seat. We congratulate Mr. Campbell on the success of his enterprise.

He is an old conductor, and his patrons of yesterday praise him highly for his watchful and gentlemanly management.

MULLEN'S "MASH."—Saturday afternoon about four o'clock, an inoffensive man named Kimball (not the editor) was standing on Prairie street near the soup houses which "ornament" and "perfume" that locality, when Theodore Mullen waltzed up and struck him between the eyes, and sent the claret spouting. Kimball says, "Mullen then jumped on me and kicked me in the face." At this juncture Deputy Marshal Barnett loomed up before Mullen's vision, and this belligerent individual took to his heels. Barnett gave pursuit, and Riebsamen also took a hand in the chase. Mullen ran down Prairie to Main street, and tore through V. H. Park's implement warehouse. Barnett followed, and Riebsamen went down past the tabernacle and collared Mullen as he came tearing out of the alley near the Presbyterian church. Mullen "threw up his hands" and marched off to Peake, where he was fined $5 and costs for creating a disturbance. On going up the stairway Mullen dropped a pair of knucks, which were afterwards captured by Barnett. Another warrant was issued charging Mullen with carrying concealed weapons, but the offender had vanquished, and up to this time he has not been arrested. Kimball's injuries are quite severe, and his head is tied up in bandages.

TABERNACLE GOSPEL TEMPERANCE.—The attendance at the gospel temperance meeting at the tabernacle on Saturday night was not as large as was desired.—The singing was conducted by George R. Franklin, in the absence of Mr. Baum, Capt. Post introduced the speakers. The first number on the programme was a poetical recitation by little Jennie Odor, entitled, "The Two Glasses." Then followed an extemporeaneous address by Lawyer McFaulklin, of Taylorville, a brother-in-law of Charles J. Holt. Little Mabel Prescott, seven years of age, gave a well-rendered recitation, which was plainly heard in all parts of the house.

EX-MAYOR Frank Priest was called upon to speak, and he responded in a good-natured address of 10 minutes duration. He spoke of Taylorville as he knew it many years ago, and styled it as having been the hardest town in Illinois, Ramsey not excepted. He was glad that the burg had been redeemed, and hoped it would ever remain as it is now—an anti-license town.

Rev. Ermantrout will be the principal speaker next Saturday night.

THE BANK ROBBERS SAY IN JAIL.—Provided with the necessary papers from Gov. Cullom, Marshal F. V. Nicholson, of Mt. Pulaski, and Sheriff R. F. Ayers, of Logan county, arrived in St. Louis on Sunday morning to take charge of the Mt. Pulaski bank robbers, Woods and Oliver, captured in a saloon in that city last Thursday night. The prisoners were heavily ironed, each one having his hands manacled and his feet chained together, the left ankle of one shackled to the right ankle of the other. The officers with their prisoners left St. Louis last night, and doubtless the "birds" are now safely lodged in the county jail at Lincoln.

WILL RE-OPEN IN OCTOBER.—The Linseed Oil Mill shut down Saturday evening. This flourishing institution will remain closed until October 1st, when it will re-open under the new management, Hatfield, Taylor & Co. These gentlemen are the proprietors of a big grain elevator, which will be disposed of this summer, when they will remove to Decatur with their families.

AT REST.—The funeral of the late Preston J. Murphy took place from his mother's residence on East North street, yesterday afternoon at three o'clock. The sermon was preached by Dr. Goodwin, and was listened to by a large assembly of sympathizing friends. The remains were interred in Greenwood cemetery, and were followed to the grave by a long funeral cortège.

MASONIC.—Stated communication of Ionic Lodge No. 312, A. F. & A. M., this evening. J. N. BAKER, W. M. J. C. HOSKIERIAN, Sec.

FIRE CHIEF Dodson is a first-class equestrian. Anybody doubts it let them ask those who saw him on his fiery untamed steed, going "twenty times round for a nickel."

THIEVERY.—A $35 set of buggy harness was stolen from James W. Haworth's stable, on East El Dorado street, sometime during last Saturday night. The stable doors were securely locked, but an entrance was probably effected through a window. There is no clue to the burglar.

THE DECATOR POSTOFFICE.

Established in 1829—Daniel McCall the First P. M.—The Office of To-day a Well Ordered and Well Kept Institution.

On the 19th day of January, 1829, over fifty years ago, by an act of the Illinois General Assembly the county of Macon was formed, and on April 10th of the same year the appointed county commissioners, John Fleming, Jesse Rhodes and Easton Whitton met and "proceeded to view the several proposed locations for a seat of justice," and made a report of their deliberations to the county commissioners' court. As a result of the action of the special commission the town of Decatur was laid off, and Daniel McCall was appointed postmaster in the fall of 1829. He also at this time held the offices of probate and county judge and circuit clerk, all by appointment.

McCall was succeeded as postmaster by the following persons:

William Cantrill, still living in this city; Dr. J. G. Spears; Dr. Thomas P. Rogers, now in the Illinois legislature, whose home is at Bloomington; Samuel C. Allen, still living, east of Decatur; Alexander Maywood; Preston Butler; William J. Ure; John P. Post; Phil Shepherd; John Ryan; George B. Peake; Wm. J. Ure; Isaac C. Pugh; Robert P. Lytle.

What the postoffice of 50, 40, 30 and 20 years ago were, we leave to the failing memories of the "oldest inhabitants."

The Decatur postoffice of to-day, whatever it may have been in the past, is a model of beauty and convenience. It is conveniently situated in the business part of the city, and is in all respects an institution such as few cities of a population of 12,000 souls can boast of. Under the present efficient management the several departments have been arranged with an eye single to the accommodation of the public, a fact that is duly appreciated.—

This spring the office was thoroughly renovated and the walls newly calcined and repapered, and the glass and boxes were washed, dusted and generally cleaned up.

The office is in charge of the following named officials and clerks: R. P. Lytle, Postmaster; Frank W. Hardy, Deputy Postmaster; A. T. Lytle, money order clerk; Geo. Moeller, mailing clerk; Harry Moore, delivery clerk.

The office is in very prosperous condition, as will be seen by the following statement of its business for the quarter ending March 31st, 1879:

No of money orders issued..... 1,600
" " paid..... 1,600
" registered letters..... 169
" " paid..... 169
" " handed in transit..... 676
" " one-cent stamps sold..... 600
" " 3-cent stamps..... 12,100
" " other denominations sold..... 4,500
" " stamp-envelopes and wrappers sold..... 32,551

There are 2,000 boxes in the office, 1,500 of which are call and 500-lock boxes; 1,300 of this number are now rented to the public.

Mail matter of every kind is received and despatched with the greatest possible rapidity, and everything connected with the office moves with the regularity and promptness of a well-ordered and well kept public institution such as it is.

SAFE, Permanent and Complete are the cures of intermittent diseases performed by Clifford's Extractor. Dumb Chills, Fever and Ague, and all bilious disorders are speedily eradicated from the system. Health and vigor are obtained more rapidly and more permanently by the use of this great natural antidote than by any remedy heretofore known.—It disinfects, cleanses and eliminates all malarial. As a Tonic, it acts as an Anti-septic and Blood Purifier, bringing renewed energy and vitality to the body worn down by disease.

RELIGIOUS MATTERS.

The New Pastor at the Baptist Church—Texts of Various Ministers on Yesterday.

We were favored with another delightful Sabbath yesterday, and the various places of worship were cool and comfortable.

"FAITH"

This was the subject of the introductory sermon delivered by Rev. W. H. Batson, the new pastor at the Baptist church, at the morning service. The text was faithfully and ably analyzed, and the sermon as a whole was deeply interesting and instructive. The church was nearly filled by a large and intelligent congregation.

Rev. W. H. Batson is a comparatively young man, and speaks extemporaneously. He had another fine audience in the evening. The Baptists are fortunate in securing the services of Rev. Batson, who is certainly a very able minister and a polished gentleman.

DR. GOODWIN'S SERMONS.

At the First M. E. Church yesterday morning, the pastor, Rev. Dr. Goodwin, preached an effective sermon from the text, "Bear ye one another's burdens." It was a plain, practical talk, and did its work.

The collection amounted to over $70.

In the evening the congregation was one of the largest ever seen in that church, and the singing was "very animated."

The subject of the evening discourse was, "It doth not yet appear what we shall be."

The class meetings were all largely attended, and there was the usual number out at the Sunday School in the afternoon.

"TRUST IN GOD."

Rev. S. S. Hebbard officiated at the Universalist church yesterday. In the morning he based his remarks on the above words; in the evening "The Sacrifice of Isaac" was the subject of his discourse.
